Numb. 3905.

The Daily Courant.

Friday, April 30. 1714.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated May 4.

Hamburg, April 27.

Yesterday Morning the Danish Troops who had kept our Avenues shut up above these 8 Months, drew off to march far into Holstein; which immediately caused inconceivable Joy among our Citizens, and many Thousands of them went out to the neighbouring Villages to take the Diversions of the Country; and since great Numbers from the Country come in hither. The Demolition of Tönninguen is carried on with so great Expedition, that it will soon be like a Village, without Gates or Walls.

Paris, April 27. The common Talk for some Days has been about the Princess Ursini and Monsieur Orry who are extremely in the King of Spain's Favour. As for Monsieur Orry every one knows that he is a Man of extraordinary Capacity in the Matter of the Finances, and that the King of France sent him to Madrid to do two Services: I. To re-establish the Finances of that Crown which were under very ill Management. II. To examine and unite the Interests of the two Nations. Of both which this able Minister acquitted himself perfectly well during the War, to the Satisfaction of both Courts. But now Peace is made, the Council of Madrid as well as the Catholic King have engaged Monsieur Orry to study and promote the Interests of the Crown of Spain separately. The King of France has twice demanded to have Monsieur Orry sent back, but in vain, the King of Spain and his Council detaining him. Hereupon 'tis said the Cardinal del Grado is come hither, to justify the Conduct of Spain in this Affair, and to answer the Complaints of the Marquis de Brancas Ambassador of France against the Princess Ursini and Monsieur Orry.

Hague, May 4. Upon the patherick Letter which the King of Prussia wrote some time ago to the Elector Palatine, in favour of the Protestants whom the Popish Clergy supported by the military Arm had begun to persecute violently, taking from them no less than 30 Churches since the Signing of the Peace of Rastadt, his Electoral Highness has not only given Order for putting a stop to those Violences and Oppressions, but even for punishing those who have done any thing contrary to the Directions issued by the Court of Dusseldorf with respect to their Conduct towards the Protestants.

Letters from Hamburgh of the 1st of May advise, that since the Danish Troops drew off from about that City, 'tis filled with Danish Officers. 'Twas reckoned that by the 3d of this Month the Troops of Hanover would likewise draw off, and leave the Town to its former free Commerce, which has so long been restrained on Account of the late Contagion.

Letters from Copenhagen of the 25th of April, relate, that the Funeral of the late Queen Dowager was performed that Day with great Solemnity, and pomp; his Danish Majesty and Prince Charles in a Coach following the Hearse, which after marching all Night arrived at 7 in the Morning at Rorschild the Place of Interment of the Kings and Queens of Denmark. The Epitaph on her Tomb ends with this Line, which (in a Method the German Writers fond of) denotes the Year of Christ she died in.

Charlotis A M A L I A, Danz & Nor V V e g l e z e g l a.
280. ye. 1668 20. 1. 166. 1. 53. 1. 1.

She was born the 27th of April 1650, being the Daughter of William VI, Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel by his Consort Edwig Sophia; in 1667 she was married to Christian V King of Denmark, (who was born in April 1646 and died in the Year 1699,) to whom she bore Frederick IV in 1671 the present King of Denmark, Christian William in 1672 who died the Year after, Christian in 1673 who died in 1695, Sophia Edwig in 1677, Christians Charlotte in 1679 who died in 1689, Charles in 1686, and William in 1687 who died in 1705. The Brothers now living of the deceased Queen, are Charles the reigning Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel, and Philip.

'Twas believed his Danish Majesty would forthwith set out for Gottorp, to see his Troops pass in Review on the 4th of May. Collonel Leesnor was returned from his secret Journey, and was preparing to go Petersbourg with Dispatches supposed to be of very great Importance. The Letters from Schonen advise, that the Apprehension the Swedes are in of the Russians making a sudden Irruption into their Country, augments as the Season advances, and that for this Reason they talk no more of transporting any Troops to Pomerania.

There are Letters from Petersbourg which say, that the Czar upon some Umbrage he has taken, has ordered 4000 Men to march towards the Frontiers of Prussia, in order to enter it if certain Circumstances should happen. His Czarian Majesty has a considerable Body of Troops on the Frontiers of Turkey, to observe the Movements of the King of Sweden's Adherents: But the main Army of the Russians is in Finland, preparing to push on their Successes against the Kingdom of Sweden.

The Advices from Berlin of the 28th of April confirm, that the Rumour of that Court's having desired of the States-General Passage for a Body of French Troops, is wholly groundless. His Prussian Majesty was at Potsdam, and 'twas talk'd he designs to take a Journey shortly to the County of Cleves, and to form a Camp there.
